

01. ITOFEA

SPRING - 2024

PROFESSOR Britany L Williams

STUDIO III

Tasked with developing a plaza and a story telling building on 13th and H street NE in Washington, DC. The underground Itofea and its supportive plaza encourages visitors to be in the moment and to leave their worries behind. It accomplishes this by giving space to meander, reflects and connect.

The building was placed underground to create a feeling of suspense and to encourage visitors to be present by decreasing their access to their sight. Darkness heightens other senses and demands concentration and to let go. This way visitors can be open to take in Itofea's next performance.
